

Get Yourself Noticed

August 6-10

in Seattle, Washington

at the 2006 Joint Statistical Meetings

Get Yourself Noticed by the expected
5,000 attendees at the 2006
Joint Statistical Meetings.

With the JSM Program Book, you can reach every part of the statistical community, have your ad seen repeatedly throughout the meetings, and appear in the books registrants take back to their offices and libraries.

To RESERVE your ad space, fill out the Insertion Order on the back of this flyer and return it before May 1, 2006.

Remember . . .The Program Book is the complete source of information for registrants attending the JSM. It contains the dates, times, and locations for technical sessions, social functions, committee meetings, etc. Floor plans and exhibitor information also are included.

The Abstract Book contains summaries of the statistical papers presented during the Meetings. Participants refer to these introductory statements to help them choose the sessions they wish to attend as well as for research purposes after the JSM.

NEW THIS YEAR, the Abstract book will be published on CD ROM and printed. Members will choose, which version they prefer, when they register.

And ask about additional opportunities to get exposure for your company.

American Statistical Association • 1429 Duke Street • Alexandria, VA 22314-3415
